

NUMBER OF GRADUATES NOT ALL TO BE CONSIDERED

The following communication relative to the controversy concerning the superintendency of the La Crosse schools, written by Dr. W. A. Anderson to the editor of the Chronicle, appeared in that paper this morning:

In the Chronicle of July 1, commenting on my statement that, without any increase in population of this city, there had been an average increase in the enrollment and graduates of the high school for the past ten years, you say: "As indicated above, Dr. Anderson does not venture beyond the assertion that 'the above mentioned progress, whether considered sufficient or otherwise, is not wholly owing to the extraordinary increase in population of our city, which the census shows to have been 310 in ten years.' We doubt, however, if, after reflection, he would be content to leave the matter there if he were entering upon a campaign to justify the general capacity and progressiveness of school administration in La Crosse for the past ten years or so, and we are confident that if he were thus content, somebody would remind him that cities all around us, of populations ranging from 2,000 to 5,000, are graduating from their high schools annually a larger number of students than are annually graduated from the La Crosse high school." You then cite Owatonna, Minn., as having forty-six graduates this year, with a population of about 6,000, and Richland Center, Wis., having twenty-eight graduates with a population of about 2,000.

The presentation of such statistics as evidence, was so novel and original that I have waited several weeks, doubting, if, after reflection, you would be content to leave the matter there, in conducting this marvel of a campaign to show general incapacity of school administration in La Crosse, with especial reference to the high school. I am not sufficiently a high school man, on general principles, to enter upon any campaign, if such was necessary, and I may differ with the superintendent and school board in some matters pertaining to our schools, but this does not prevent recognition of the facts that, with our city at a standstill in the matter of population for the past ten years, without any increase in number of school children and a decrease of 666 in the total enrollment of our schools, there has been an average annual increase of 120 students in the high school and double the number of graduates.

However, as you state that, under certain conditions, if I were content to leave the matter there, somebody would remind me, etc., and then immediately proceed to remind me yourself, by citing instances, it looks as though you thought the "campaign" was on. It must have seemed strange to you, therefore, during all these weeks, with such an abundance of the same kind of statistical information, which I freely concede there is, that somebody has not deemed it proper to gather a few comparisons like your own. But it has been left for you to do the reminding, by subsequent mention of Sparta, with twenty-nine graduates and one-seventh of our population; of Winona, Minn., with 100 graduates and two-thirds of our population; and Superior, Wis., with 100 graduates and about the same population as ours. All of which tends to show that you are really serious, and that, in tion, and then disavow responsibility, if they prove misleading, rather tends to discredit the sincerity of motive and the value of his advice of the school management.

Going back to the figures, if the number of graduates per thousand of population was to be taken seriously, as you undoubtedly meant it, as the standard for judging of the merits and rank of high schools, it must be admitted that many cities are in a bad way—Milwaukee and Chicago for instance, according to certain school statistics published in their papers a few days prior to the publication of your comparisons, July 1. Upon the basis of Richland Center, with fourteen graduates per 1,000, Milwaukee with its population of 312,000 should have graduated 4,368 instead of 227, the actual number, a difference of over four thousand and about two thousand more than the entire enrollment of their high school. Chicago, with 2,000,000 population, should have had 28,000 graduates instead of 1,173, the actual number, a difference to the bad, according to this new standard, of 26,827 or double their entire enrollment in high schools. It is true, according to the papers, that Chicago is dissatisfied, like yourself, with the numbers that fail to complete the full course and drop out before graduation. With an increase of 3,412 in their high school enrollment during the past five years, the number of graduates was seventy-six less this year than five years ago. As there seemed to be no one there to tell them that the trouble was entirely due to inefficient supervision or faulty administration a committee was appointed to investigate and report.

From the figures quoted by you the inference seems plain that, in making comparisons and forming an opinion as to the standing of high schools, one should be chiefly governed by mere numbers, and no attention given to requirements, or other conditions. We have been told at the head of your editorial columns, in the past, that "immature wheat, poorly ground, is cheap flour" and that there is as much flour and potatoes. We were also told in the same columns, a few years ago, in substance, what a difference there was in the candle power of electric lamps, apparently the same, and how much greater that power in the same number of lamps, lighting streets in other cities, than in La Crosse. Is it not possible, therefore, that there may be a difference in high schools, apparently the same, and the intellectual power, so to speak, of the graduates in different cities? If the mere number of graduates is the goal and the only object, it can be very easily attained by dropping back to the conditions existing over thirty years ago, when the standard was raised here, although it decreased the enrollment in our high school one-half; the preparatory course then being only six years, instead of eight as at present.

A high school is a "free public school, nearest the rank of a college." With this definition in mind, permit me to submit the statistics from the last report available, of La Crosse and the three schools in this state cited by you in comparison, showing the number of pupils in each studying English only, and the number pursuing certain other higher branches, which may give a fairly clear idea of the relative position of the schools and their nearness to the rank of a college:

No. Enrolled.	Studying English Only.	Studying Latin.	Studying German.	Both Latin & German.	Studying Latin & Greek.
La Crosse.....	312	212	235	40	6
Superior.....	423	87	74	30	0
Richland Center..	144	92	23	29	7
Sparta.....	165	95	60	43	22

your opinion, such figures and comparisons must be conclusive.

I am aware that you say that you "do not venture to say that this fact has a bearing upon the situation in La Crosse," and that "there may be a hundred reasons," etc., but for an editor to authorize and publish such statements and figures for the purpose, apparently, of making an impression upon the public, and that impression to the detriment of the work of our high school, or its administration,

There's Comfort Grape-Nuts

"There's a Reason"

The age at time of admission is worthy of note, as indicating, to some extent, probable requirements upon admission. The average age in La Crosse is given as 16, and in each of the other cities as 14. The number of non-resident pupils in the first two cities was six and five, and in the last two fifty-seven and forty-five respectively, indicating that in some cities the enrollment and graduates may be, in a measure, independent of the population.

P. S.—I omitted to say that all of these schools are on the accredited list of the state university, but as there are a hundred and fifty others, the fact is of no especial significance.

SPARTA MANIAC IS DYING OF WOUNDS

According to advices received here from Sparta, Louis Felz, the insane man who stabbed four men on the Milwaukee passenger train No. 6, Monday afternoon, will die from the bullet wounds received from revolvers in the hands of the panic-stricken passengers.

All hopes have been given up by the physicians, of saving the life of the man. The severe mental strain under which the man was laboring at the time of the stabbing has evidently subsided and the physical strain is now beginning to tell seriously upon the injured man.

TRAINMEN BRING WORD OF ROBBERY

News was told on No. 55 of the Milwaukee road this morning of the robbery of an unknown young farmer who resides about thirty miles east of Portage, at Mankato, where he had gone for a few days' visit.

The young man was struck over the head receiving a bad gash and rendering him unconscious. When he recovered he found that he was minus his watch and $95.

The wound had as yet been undressed when he boarded a train for his home.

FARMER HURT IN RUNAWAY

An exciting runaway took place yesterday afternoon when a spirited team drawing a wagon in which a farmer was seated tugging at the reins, dashed down the Rose street viaduct, where they had become frightened by an engine, then to Mill on Gould and down Gould to the old street car barn where they ran into a hitching post.

THINK OF IT!

This Pretty Matron Had Headache and Backache—Her Condition Was Serious.
RELIEF IN PERUNA.

MRS. M. BRICKNER.

99 Eleventh street, Milwaukee, Wis.
Peruna Drug Mfg. Co.

Dear Sirs:—A short time ago I found my condition very serious. I had headache, pains in the back, and frequent dizzy spells which grew worse every month. I tried two remedies before Peruna, and was discouraged when I took the first dose, but my courage soon returned. In less than two months my health was restored.

—Mrs. M. Brickner.

The reason for so many failures to cure cases similar to the above is the fact that disease peculiar to the pelvic organs are not commonly recognized as being caused by catarrh.

Catarrh of one organ is exactly the same as catarrh of any other organ. What will relieve catarrh of the head will also relieve catarrh of the pelvic organs. Peruna relieves these cases simply because it relieves catarrh.

and fell all over themselves on the sidewalk.

The farmer was thrown out and had both trouser legs torn at the knees which were badly bruised. It was at first thought he was seriously injured, but upon being assisted to his feet he declared that he was not hurt and was soon able to proceed upon his way.

One of the horses was also badly bruised in the mixup on the sidewalk in which one horse was thrown completely over the other.

CHILD KILLED BY ACIDS

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 15.—Death came to 2-year-old Florence Douglass of 2508 South Juniper street as the result of chloride of lime poisoning, received in a peculiar manner. The fatal accident happened when the child was allowed to play in the bathroom while her mother took a bath. As there was seemingly no danger the little one was not watched during the stay of Mrs. Douglas in the tub. A few minutes later the mother was startled to hear the child scream and see her pitch backward off a chair, on to which she had clambered.

A tin canister, out of which a stream of chloride of lime was pouring into the child's face, told the story. The little girl had tired of her play on the floor, and, seeing the array of bottles and other articles on the shelf above, had managed to reach it by using the chair and in so doing upset the contents of the canister upon her upturned face, the strong, fiery powder entering her eyes, nose, and mouth.

The mother at once put the child's face under the faucet and washed off the powder that remained there, and then, quickly donning her clothes, took the suffering infant to the drug store of Dr. S. C. Meredith, at the corner of Broad and Porter streets. The latter at once saw that the deadly poison had done its work and that death was only a matter of hours. The powder had gone down into the lungs and had produced a severe state of congestion, which was rapidly bringing on excessive palpitation of the heart.

An antidote to relieve the sufferings which were racking the little body with agony was administered, but it was of little avail. After a whole night of convulsions and paroxysms that the physicians were unable to alleviate, she died.

INDIAN CHIEF IS GOOD JUSTICE

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 15.—

Chief Joe Capilano, who is now in London "to see the king," is the head of one of the most remarkable Indian communities in North America. He is the hereditary ruler of the redskins who inhabit the Capilano reserve, on the north side of Burrard inlet, opposite the city of Vancouver. He rules the people more directly than Edward VII governs his subjects from the great tepee in St. James park. Every man accused of a crime within the limits of the reserve is brought up before Chief Joe. If it is mere drunkenness, the chief will fine seldom less than $50. But he does not want the cash; he will take it out in good hard work on the streets—stump pulling, road making, or something that benefits the whole tribe. No Indian likes to work, therefore an intoxicated man is a rare sight within Chief Joe's domain.

There is little trouble over at the mission, as they call the Capilano reserve, concerning debt. The community has made itself responsible for the debts of its members as individuals, and it takes good care that they are few. If a man is found "running his face" for too many articles he is blacklisted; in other words, he can get no more credit until he has liquidated.

As far as personal assaults are concerned, the "eye for an eye" theory obtains. Should one mission Indian hit another in the eye, the victim is allowed to smite the assailant's optic in court, and the chief is present, or his deputy, to see that the sentence is properly carried out.

Erving women are dealt with gently. At the first offense they are put in charge of older members of the tribe, women who make it their business to bring the sinning one back to virtue's ways, if at all possible. If gentleness fails, the girl is banished, in order that the mission may not suffer by reason of her presence.

GREAT DODE FISK SHOW

Dogs and Ponies in Human Stunts

Remarkable Performance of Trained Animals

Peculiar interest attaches to the appearance here of Dode Fiske's dog and pony show. To everyone who has been a patron of our great fairs and race meets for years the name of Dode Fisk comes with a friendly melody. He, and his horses and ponies and dogs have been the feature, the nicest drawing card, all over the circuits for years. No matter how difficult the enterprise he undertook, Dode Fisk had the faculty of making good.

So it was not a surprise that the first performance in La Crosse of his clever show, on North Third street, this afternoon, brought the verdict that it is an unqualified success. There is a marvelous intelligence about these trained animals that renders them possessed of almost human understanding. The secret of his success in getting so much out of dumb brutes is said to be that they love the stern, kind man who goes among them as a friend, and sympathizes while he rules them.

At any rate, the performance this afternoon eclipsed in cleverness and capacity for entertainment anything ever shown here of a similar nature. There will be another performance at 8 o'clock this evening, and afternoon and evening performances tomorrow. The opportunity presented is one that should not be lost. Every man, woman and child in La Crosse should see this wonderful show while it is in the city. The show grounds are on North Third street between State and Vine streets, convenient to all. The prices are, children 15 cents, adults 25 cents.

AUTHOR OF "SPOILERS" TO WRITE NEW BOOK

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 15.—Bringing material for a new book and notes that will be worked into a series of magazine articles dealing with conditions in Alaska, Rex E. Beach, author of "The Spoilers," returned today to Seattle, accompanied by Dave W. King, his old time "pardner" in Alaska. In addition to big game and manuscripts, Beach brought a choice selection of stories of Isaac Walton.

Beach and King left Seattle equipped with the paraphernalia requisite to search for big game in the Kenai peninsula country. From Seattle they sailed to Valdez. At Orca, Beach landed a 160-pound halibut. From Elamar they went to Columbia glacier, which Beach describes as being even greater from a scenic point of view than Muir glacier.

"Packing grub and camp appurtenances through almost impenetrable wilds and up insurmountable peaks," said Beach, "was not as conducive to contentment as 'coming out' of the country with no overweight. Still, it was 'good going' for a change, and the hard work proved beneficial. It is pretty fine to get back to civilized food again."

"We did some business with a few brown bear. One of them loomed into view suddenly one afternoon at twilight. He charged within a few feet of me, accelerating all the while. I fired and luckily hit him in a vulnerable spot and it was curtains for 'Lord Bruin.' We also got several glacier bear during the hunt."

TAKE NO MORE RECRUITS
FROM SMALLER TOWNSRecruiting Officer to be Relieved of Responsibility of Securing Unsound Soldiers

After years of trial the old method of recruiting men for the United States army has been abandoned and a better method instituted. Orders were received at the recruiting stations on the first of the month that no man shall be enlisted at any recruiting station, but shall be merely accepted as an applicant.

After a preliminary examination the applicants are to be sent on to the recruiting depot or headquarters, and there they will be thoroughly examined by the surgeon in charge. If the man is found to be perfect, he will be accepted and enlisted at once; if not he will be rejected and furnished transportation to his home.

The matter of discontinuing the enlisting of men at small towns, where the recruiting officer has but small knowledge of a man's physical defects or perfections, will relieve the recruiting officers of the responsibility of swearing a man in only to have it later discovered that he is physically unfit for service.

Under the old system, recruits who were enlisted and then found to be unfit for service had to be discharged on certificates of disability, and even though they had been in the service only a few days they received the same money and allowances for clothing not drawn as soldiers received who had been in service for three full years. The government lost a great deal in this manner.

Under the present system such cases would be impossible. The applicant while accepted as an application does not in any manner bind himself nor is he bound in any way whatsoever to enlist on his arrival at the recruiting depot. And herein, says an army officer, lies the weak point of the new method.

A man might have the desire to go from here and after making application would be sent to the recruiting depot for examination and enlistment. On his arrival there he can declare he has changed his mind about enlisting and prefers to live in civil life. He has received free transportation and nothing can be done about it.

Fear Water so
Drink Beer

CRONING, N. Y., Aug. 15.—"This city's water supply is responsible for much of the appendicitis prevalent here," is the declaration of Dr. F. S. Swain, secretary of the City Medical society. "Not only does it cause appendicitis, but it is also responsible for nine-tenths of the paralysis cases, as well as heart disease and gall stones."

This indictment of the drinking water of Croning is concurred in by other members of the medical association. It is explained that the percentage of alkali in the water is high, and when it goes into the human system causes a scale formation in the arteries. The scale becomes brittle, breaks off, and the little particles are carried in the blood to the brain, causing paralysis; to the liver, causing gall stones, and to the appendix.

A water commission will spend several hundred thousand dollars if necessary on a new supply. Temperance advocates are aghast at the way beer drinking has increased, for "hygienic" reasons.

Entered as second-class matter June 22, 1904, at the Post Office at La Crosse, Wis., under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

THE BASIS FOR A WISE CHOICE

The statement of Senator McGillivray that "politics creates the troubles between capital and labor" (the quotation is not literal but is substantially correct), does not appear to carry conviction. If it is true, it must be conceded that the senator has done his share of creating "trouble between capital and labor," for he has not overlooked "class prejudice" when appealing for votes for himself or others whom he has supported and is supporting. In fact, the object of his visit to La Crosse was to create prejudice among laboring men against Mr. Lenroot whom he represents to have taken the part of vested capital against labor in the matter of the proposed new exemption law.

Carrying the conclusion of Senator McGillivray to its logical conclusion, if there were no politics there would be no "trouble between capital and labor." Were there no politicians capital might grind labor down as it has sought to do, and there would be no protest from the laboring men. The speaker left the inference that politicians stir up labor to revolt by discussing more or less fictitious grievances labor has against capital.

The Tribune has a better estimate of the intelligence of labor. We do not believe that our laboring men remain in ignorance of the encroachments of capital until warned by some pestering politician; we do not believe that the only wrongs done labor by capital are imaginings of trouble-breeding politicians. It is true that some politicians take advantage of the natural resentment felt by labor against capital for capital's oppression of labor. Some politicians do this merely to get workingmen's votes; others do so in order to contribute to the information of the public as to the manner in which capital attempts to enslave labor and with an honest desire to help create better conditions. But in either event they do not create the trouble, they merely "use" it.

Honest working men pay their debts. To such the passage or defeat of the bill in question was of no importance provided it was just to all classes. Senator McGillivray hit the vicious feature of the bill squarely when he pointed out that it reached only the laboring man and did not affect more favored classes of debtors. If Mr. Lenroot supported the bill because he thought it just, even though he knew it would be unpopular and hurt him politically, he deserves at least the respect of all men who propose to pay their debts. If Governor Davidson opposed the bill because he felt it was unjust, and not because he thought to fight it would get him votes, he also deserves the respect of all men. The Tribune believes the bill was rightly killed, but it does not assume to criticize Mr. Lenroot.

In selecting a candidate for governor the republicans of this state should pick the man they deem better fitted for the office. Mr. Lenroot should not be nominated because Senator La Follette is for him, although Senator La Follette's opinion should be taken as having some weight just as should the opinions of Senator Stout and ex-Governor Hoard. Governor Davidson should not be renominated because Senator La Follette wants Mr. Lenroot, or because Governor Davidson is a Norwegian. These elements should be eliminated and the man who appears to be the more capable should be nominated because he is the more capable. Neither is well enough known to the voters here to permit of a decision that is absolutely accurate. That both are honest is certain; that both have considerable capacity is equally true. In order that we may judge wisely between them it is almost essential that a closer acquaintance be secured. It would be a gratifying circumstance were each to appear here in a public speech. Their speeches should not be weighed from the standpoint of elocution or oratory or finesse, but upon the "horse sense" injected into them. The man who has the most clear and understanding grasp upon affairs and conditions, and who has more definitely and with greater purpose and insight formulated proposals to accomplish improvements that will benefit the public—he is the man whom the republicans should nominate.

The same problem confronts the democrats in choosing between Mr. Aylward and Senator Merton. If both parties make the right selection the state will be assured of good government, no matter what the politics of the next governor.

The Rubber Mills is attracting lots of attention. Everybody is rubbering.

The Eagles are in Milwaukee this week. It is said the eerie is getting beerie.

It is hard to tell where the bass lie this year, but the fishermen lie any old place.

The champs didn't "drop" one. They threw one away. Down in

Freeport the newspapers assassinate a few players after misfortunes of that sort, but in La Crosse everybody says, "O, well, we'll win tomorrow."

La Crosse Day at the fair should be the greatest La Crosse Day La Crosse has ever seen.

Doing business without advertising is like kissing a girl in the dark. You know what you are doing, but nobody else knows.

Senator McGillivray thinks La Crosse is apathetic about the political situation. That is a mistake. The senator was shy one good press agent.

The speech made by Senator La Follette on the rate bill has been published in full in the Milwaukee Free Press. It is as great as the greatest of the oratorical efforts of the senator, and is typical of the man. Deep study of the question involved and a purpose to make his words felt in the fight for proper legislation made it possible for the senator to deliver what is conceded to be the most powerful address listened to by the senate in its deliberations on the railroad question.

NELSON FAVORITE FOR CONGRESS

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 15.—The Dane county republican assembly district conventions elected sixteen delegates for John M. Nelson and four for former Assemblyman M. S. Dodge. Nelson carried the Second and Third districts and divided the First district with his rival.

It is reported that the opposition to Nelson is trying to get Columbia and Jefferson counties to agree on some candidate from either of those counties and has promised that if that is done the four anti-Nelson delegates of Madison and the four delegates of Marquette county will join them, thus defeating the nomination of Nelson. It is not believed that this scheme will succeed.

Gen. George B. Bryant, state superintendent of public property, heads the four Nelson delegates from this district, and former State Senator George P. Miller heads the Dodge delegates.

The congressional convention will be held here tomorrow and the prospects are that Nelson will be nominated. This nomination will be for the unexpired term of Henry C. Adams, which ends on March 4 next. The election, which is a special one, will be held on Sept. 4, simultaneously with the primary election. The nominee for the regular two year term beginning next March will be named at the primary election and elected at the regular election in November.

Imprisoned for Tatooing

NEW YORK, N. Y., Aug. 15.—Charles Wagner, who for years has styled himself an "artist in tattooing," was sent to jail for twenty days by Presiding Justice Denen in special sessions for "disfiguring" the arms of Daniel Spurdett, who is 11 years old. The case was in the nature of a test. Some months ago the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children warned men of his class not to "operate" on minors. Parents in the poorer sections of the city had complained to the society of painful experiences of children, who, carried away by a desire to have their bodies "adorned" with flags, stars, and other patriotic emblems, placed themselves in the hands of "professors" of tattooing.

Young Spurdett visited Wagner's place in the Bowery and a few days later, when the tattooing had begun to heal, proudly exhibited to his parents his right arm, which had been tattooed with India ink. It was adorned with a large wreath of blue, surrounding the initials "D. S." in red, on his left arm were a star and a flag. Wagner pleaded guilty, and said in extenuation that he did not know he was violating any law. The Children's society prosecuted him under that section of the code which forbids an adult to imperil the health or life of a minor.

HELD FOR PERJURY

CLINTON, Ia., Aug. 15.—C. E. Heren, director of Reed, Henderson & Co., a tea and coffee house of Chicago, was arrested here on two charges of perjury preferred by E. D. Lewis, ex-salesman of the house, following the discharge of the action for forgery brought against Lewis by Heren.

lowing the discharge of the action for forgery brought against Lewis by Heren.

Lewis left the employ of the Chicago house on Sept. 22, 1904, after indorsing checks on the company, for which action was taken against him today in the Clinton court. Judge Russell held no cause for the action and dismissed the case.

Lewis immediately preferred charges of perjury against Heren on two counts in connection with the first case, and instituted proceedings in the Clinton district court to recover $5,000 damages from Heren and the company for false and malicious arrest.

SHOCKED THROUGH A KITE STRING

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 15.—As a consequence of having used as a kite cord some old furniture braid in which were woven threads of copper tinsel, Leslie Jones, 7 years old, whose home is at the northwest corner of Eighth and Poplar streets, is in the Children's Homeopathic hospital with severe burns of the face, hands and body.

Leslie had no cord with which to fly his kite. He found a spool of old furniture braid, which he improvised for the purpose. The kite rose on the breast of a stiff breeze and remained aloft for some time. Suddenly the wind subsided and the kite flopped down. The cord fell across the trolley wire in Eighth street.

The copper in the braid acted as a conductor of the electricity and instantly the cord burned the boy's hand to the bone. In his efforts to free his hand from the braid he threw his arms about, the copper coming in contact with his face and abdomen, burning them severely. Policeman Michael of the Tenth and Thompson street station rushed to the boy's aid and knocked the heavily charged braid from his hand. At the hospital the physicians believe the boy will recover.

MAN FLEEING FROM DEATH FOUND DEAD

JOPLIN, Mo., Aug. 15.—After fleeing from the Indian Territory to escape assassination by George Merritt to Cedar, I. T., died in a hotel here yesterday under mysterious circumstances. The hotel employees were attracted to his room yesterday by his screams for help, and before medical aid arrived he died, apparently from the effects of poison. It is thought he poisoned himself, but the coroner is investigating the case. Merritt said that his daughter had been killed by her husband, who had also sworn to kill him, and he fled to escape death at the hands of his son-in-law.

SEEK WOMEN GAMBLERS

KENOSHA, Wis., Aug. 15.—Quite a deal of excitement was caused in Kenosha when it became known that the officials of the new civic federation of the city had secured the names of women who had been gambling at certain pleasure parks about the city on last Sunday and it was announced that these women would be summoned into court to give evidence against the gamblers. Officials of the federation claim that gambling is prevalent among the men of the city and that on last Sunday a crowd of them stood about a gambling device and lost large sums of money. The women alleged to have been seen gambling are members of well known families and it is claimed that strong influence will be brought to bear in an effort to prevent their being forced to come into court. It is thought that the woman witnesses will be used as a whip to force the closing up of all sorts of gambling in the city and county.

THE STATE PRESS

Vote Your Own Ticket

Democrats should not solicit the aid of republican votes at the primaries, where there is a contest between democrats for a nomination, for the reason that the nomination, under the primary law, means an expression of the party will be in the selection of candidates. When a republican votes for a democratic candidate in the primaries he must cast a straight democratic ticket and when a democrat votes for a republican candidate he must vote a straight republican ticket. Principle is cut out. It is small, petty, crooked politics and in direct violation of the spirit and letter of the law. Then, democratic dignity and self-respect suggest that republicans settle their own family brawls.

What the public wants is good, honest, capable men in office, from corner to corner. Republican candidates know that you democrats cannot vote for them in the primaries and be honest.

Let us have a great democratic turnout at the primaries. Let every democratic candidate receive all the democratic preference and support from democrats to which he is entitled. The democratic party is united from one end of Wisconsin to the other, from one end of the union to the other, and it ought to present a solid front in every voting precinct to demonstrate this fact of unity of purpose to the people of the country. To demonstrate our loyalty and our deference and respect for Bryan, the incomparable, and undisputed leader of the rank and file, the grand, gallant and incorruptible tribune of the untried and undaunted democracy.

Stand up for your party in the primaries. Do your duty and discharge your honest obligations to yourself as a law abiding citizen and to the body politic of which you are a part. Let republicans vote for whom they will. There used to be a lot of them but the chances are that thousands of them have seen the error of their way, which is devoutly to be hoped for the good of the country.—Wausau Daily Herald, Aug. 8.

MARRIAGE RECORDS OF FRISCO GONE

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 15.—Persons who were married shortly before the fire are now besieging the marriage license clerk with applications for duplicate licenses and marriage certificates. Scores are at sea as to what to do, as the records were destroyed and but little data exists for proving a marriage, should its validity be called into question.

"As large property rights may be involved in some instances," said Justice Lawson yesterday, "it is important gaps in the record made by the fire should be supplied. I have saved my memoranda, and have notes of most of the marriages I have performed, but where there is no memorandum and where licenses and certificates were filed with the recorder during April it would be difficult to give legal proof should it be called for."

Some of the letters received by justices are humorous as well as pathetic.

"Can't you send me at least the ashes of my certificate?" wrote a bride to Justice Lawson.

Rather than have some legal objection made to his marriage, should anything happen while in the east, Charles D. Crowell, business man of Sacramento, who fifteen years ago married Miss Ida May Goodwin in this city, took out license again in Oakland and had the knot tied again, by Justice of the Peace Quinn. Crowell lost his marriage certificate in a fire.

MATRIMONIAL PICNIC IS FAILURE

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 14.—Too many pretty girls; too few men. This is the explanation of the failure of the matrimonial club's first picnic, given yesterday evening at Maple Grove. There were hundreds of pretty girls on hand but only about one man for every five girls. The disadvantages of such a situation soon were apparent. The boys present made the best of it and conducted themselves gallantly, but by 10 o'clock they were calling for help. Next Saturday it is hoped there will be a greater number of men, and it is expected to have at least one marriage ceremony performed right on the ground.

HAD IMPLEMENTS OF SPARTA RIOT

The baggage agent at Sparta has in his possession the two-bladed jack knife with which Conductors Cunningham and Johnson were stabbed a few days ago. It has two blades at either end and is somewhat old, the blades having been ground down. A little blood is still to be seen upon it.

One of the bullets which was shot was also picked up by the agent.

It is said that Lawyer Graves of the Park hotel shot the maniac twice.

BRAKEMAN CHARGED WITH THEFT

Frank Sloane, a well known young switchman in the North side Milwaukee yards, was arrested last evening for breaking into a car containing bottled beer. It is charged that he took three bottles.

Morris Kruger, a young man with whom Mr. Sloane has at times associated, was implicated, but it is said, proved that he did not have any part in the affair.

After Mr. Sloane had taken the beer it is said, he was very careless and left the gloves which he uses in his work in the car. His name was upon them, it is said, and in this way he was traced and given a cell at the No. 2 station and was taken to the central station today where he will await a hearing.

The offense is a serious one and is punishable by a term in the state prison.

RAVING DRUNKARD EXCITES PEOPLE

Residents of the vicinity of the North side police station were alarmed last evening when they were awakened by the piercing screams of a raving, drunken man locked up by Officer Mike Britton. His name was given as John Johnson and he was a common vagabond who has been in the city for the past few days.

Although he was handcuffed so that he could not harm himself he broke the window out of the cell and attracted a large crowd which gathered at his cell window in the neighboring lot.

He was taken to the central station in company with six other tramps this morning.

Three tramps were arrested and sent out of town by the officers yesterday.

IMPERSONATED BROTHER TO GET HIM SOFT GOVMT. JOB

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 15.—Charles E. Watson, clerk in the navy department, was arrested here yesterday by a deputy United States marshal just as he was reporting for duty after an absence of several days. He was charged with having impersonated his brother, James Watson, at a civil service examination through which his brother was later appointed to a position in the government service. Watson is held in $1,000 bail to await his hearing next Friday.

"It is true that I have a brother named James Watson," said the accused, "but he is not in the government service and he don't want to be. He is engaged in coal mining down in Jackson county, Illinois."

Officials will not discuss the case against Watson further than to express their confidence of being able to convict him. The penalty attached to the crime alleged against Watson is a maximum fine of $10,000 and two years imprisonment.

Carrie Nation Harrangues President

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 15.—Carrie Nation arrived here at 10 o'clock last night and an hour later was on her way to jail in a patrol wagon. Later she was released and launched this at President Roosevelt.

"Theodore Roosevelt:—The time has come for you to make a record of starting one reform. You have done some things. For instance, you licensed saloons in Alaska with a stroke of your pen. The results are crime, pauperism and degradation. You did this. I can prove all that I say. There is a large class of your friends that will vote with you to the last. They will vote for you for a third term and if you get it they will put you there. These are the brewers, distillers, and saloon men. They will write your epitaph thus: 'Never by word or act did he ever go back on us.'"

"The Panama canal has been one of your childish acts. This place when you took it in charge had no saloons; now it has eleven distilleries and sixty licensed dramshops. These are filling asylums for graft, filling jails for graft and still you must obtain more help for more graft."

FIND SECRET ROOM IN STENSLAND MANSION

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 15.—Detectives Peters and Howard discovered a "secret room" in the Stensland mansion in Irving park yesterday. It opened off the den of the banker and was invisible in a general survey of the room.

The detectives, in searching the place, touched a secret spring by accident and a panel flew open, disclosing a closet-like room 23x35 1-2 feet. It was barely high enough for a man to stand in.

There were no other openings to the room and no furnishings. It is thought Stensland used it for hiding his valuables.

PEDDLAR IN GRAVE YARD IS UPHELD

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 15.—Selling peanuts in a cemetery is not vagrancy, according to Judge Neelen of this city. Sunday afternoon at Blue Mound cemetery, just outside of the city, was marked by occurrences almost akin to riots because Guitano Vitroni was selling peanuts there. Several funerals were being held at the time. Mourners finally called the police, but the latter did not know on what charge to arrest the peanut peddler. Vagrancy was the charge finally lodged against the Italian, but Judge Neelen said it wouldn't do.

17 BOSTON ICEMEN ARE INDICTED

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 15.—Secret indictments against seventeen ice dealers and six ice companies, which were returned by the Suffolk county grand jury on Saturday last were made public in the superior court yesterday.

The ice dealers are charged with having unlawfully conspired "to regulate, advance, and fix the price of ice for public sale," and the ice companies are charged as corporations with conspiracy.

The dealers indicted include President Lewis G. White of the Massachusetts Ice Dealers' association and Secretary Charles W. Kallstram of the association. The companies indicted are the Boston, Independent, Union, Fresh Pond, Cambridge, and Highland county operative companies.

The dealers when arraigned pleaded not guilty and were held in bonds of $1,000 each.

TOSSED FROM AUTO INTO LAKE

BERNARDSVILLE, N. J., Aug. 15.—Three young women were tossed headlong from a stone bridge into a pond and nearly lost their lives as the result of a runaway automobile accident near here. The victims were Miss Anna Thayer and Misses Helen and Bessie Sparks of Philadelphia. The party left the Somerset inn for Allenhurst, on the ocean, where the Sparks family have a summer home. The large touring car, in charge of a chauffeur, was proceeding rapidly through the city of Bedminster, when the machine got beyond control and dashed down a steep hill at the foot of which is a sharp turn in the road, and then a stone bridge over the sluiceway of a pond.

The car struck the far side of the bridge and was demolished. The three young women were hurled out and into the pond, where they would have drowned but for the timely arrival of John Moore, a farmer, who rescued them. Miss Thayer was unconscious. The two others were suffering from shock.

Dr. Beckman took a battery from the demolished automobile and applied it to Miss Thayer to restore her to consciousness. Then all three women were put to bed at Farmer Moore's and word sent to their friends of their plight.

La Crosse yesterday lost a game to Oshkosh, which the champs should have won and which they had their own way up to the ninth inning, when the Oshkosh team ran in four scores. In the second half of the ninth La Crosse failed to score.

This brings La Crosse down to a tied percentage with Freeport again for first place, Freeport having won her game yesterday from Green Bay by a score of 1 to 0, as a result of Moriarity taking first on balls, stealing second and coming in on a two-bagger. Summary:

RUSHFORD IS TO CELEBRATE

At a meeting of the business men of Rushford it was decided to make the second day of the dedication of Rushford's new high school building, Wednesday, Aug. 29, 1906, a big event, to be known as the "Home Coming" Day.

An earnest invitation is extended to all former students and teachers of the Rushford public schools, to all former citizens, and to everybody else, to come to Rushford that day, assist in the exercises, renew old acquaintances, and form new ones.

Committees are now at work making preparations for the big event, and strenuous efforts will be made to make it the most notable for years to come.

The dedication of the new high school building will take place Tuesday, August 28, and Wednesday will be the "Home Coming" day. Rushford would like to have everybody there for both days.

Among the prominent speakers to take part in the exercises are Hon. A. L. Cole, Hon. J. W. Olson, Prof. E. T. Reed, Dr. D. L. Kiehle, George B. Aiton, state high school inspector; County Superintendent of Schools K. W. Buell, and Hon. C. B. Miller.

Wednesday will see an interesting program, including sports and a ball game between two of the fastest teams around here. Wednesday evening the banquet of the alumni of the Rushford high school will take place. Rushford extends you the glad hand, and she will be proud to entertain you as her guest.

SAYS POLICE FORCED HER SON TO PLEAD GUILTY

Mrs. John Freeman, mother of the John H. Freeman, who was sentenced to six years in the penitentiary for beating Andrew Boyd is trying to secure an appeal of the case. The claims of Mrs. Freeman are that her son John Freeman wounded W. J. Boyd in self-defense, that he had been forced to plead guilty by threats of the police at the police station, that he was refused permission to see her or an attorney and that she did not know of his arrest until she read of his being sentenced to six years in Waupun.

Mr. Freeman was arrested Thursday night charged with assaulting W. J. Boyd and Saturday morning he appeared before Judge Fruit in the circuit court, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to six years in the penitentiary.

Mrs. Freeman was dependent upon her son, who was an employee of the La Crosse Can company, for her support and had not learned of his trouble until she had read of his sentence in the newspapers.

Attorneys Morris & Hartwell have been engaged to look into the affair, but as yet there has been no definite action taken.

PRESIDENT IN MORE FAST RACES

Tomorrow the President, the fast La Crosse trotter, is scheduled to start in the 2:10 trot at Pekin, Ill. From there he will go to Dubuque, then to the Minnesota state fair at Hamline, then to the Wisconsin state fair at Milwaukee, then to Libertyville, Columbus, Cincinnati and the season will be closed at Lexington, Ky., one of the largest race meets in the country. He will not race against Gold Dust Maid again except at the Columbus race.

TO STRAIGHTEN ROAD

The cost of straightening out the La Crosse-Onalaska road will be about $4,000 with a small additional expense for right of way, etc. A plan for holding a special meeting of the county board of supervisors early in September is being discussed.

There is considerable sentiment in favor of rectifying the road by eliminating the curves and making the highway as short as possible, according to J. L. Pettingill, chairman of the board.
